MA Paid Family and Medical Leave (MA PFML) Basics

Is my employer required to offer MA PFML benefits?

Yes. Currently, private employers that employ one or more individuals are required to offer MA PFML. Those who are self-employed or are sole proprietors are also eligible to opt-in to the program.

Is my employer required to use the state-run paid leave program?

No, while private employers with one or more employee are required to offer MA PFML, they may choose to apply for an exemption if they want to offer the same benefits or better to all employees through private insurance or a self-funded program.

How is the program funded?

Contribution% and dollar amount based on the cap	Paid Medical Split between employee and employer		Paid Family 100% employee pay		Total Contribution
	Percent	Dollar	Percent	Dollar	Percent	Dollar
Employee	.224%	$329.28	0.12%	$176.40	0.344%	$505.68
Employer	.336%	$493.92	0%	$0.00	0.336%	$493.92
Total	0.56%		0.12%		0.68%

How does my employer calculate MA PFML premium amounts due for each employee in 2022?

PFML payroll deduction=wages x 0.68%. When the cumulative total of the employee’s contributions reaches $329.28 for PML and $176.40 for PFL for the 2022 calendar year, the payroll deductions should stop.

Former employee not working and not on unemployment (less than 26 weeks post termination) has a qualifying event	Yes	Yes	No	No

If my employer has a private plan for parental leave that pays 100% salary for a designated number of weeks, how would MetLife coordinate the private plan with the MA PFML benefit?

MA PFML is a wage replacement and job protected benefit. Both the company leave and PFML can run concurrently to provide job protection. As part of our benefit coordination process, MetLife's claims team will reach out to you to coordinate dates of the company leave that directly overlaps with the state leave including any employer reimbursement that may be due (i.e. Company's parental leave and PFL-Child Bonding). Reimbursement needs to be established before the benefit is paid.

What proof or supporting documentation is needed to support a claim?

For one's own serious health condition (when you are sick or hurt and cannot work for an extended period of time):

- Certification of a Serious Health Condition form filled out by the claimant and their healthcare provider. It can take two weeks or more for the doctor's office to process this paperwork, so the claimant should be sure to submit it to them as soon as possible; or
- A doctor's note or Attending Physician Statement (APS). Please make sure it includes the same information as the Certification of Serious Health Condition form.

For child bonding for a newborn:

- A copy of the child's Birth Certificate, or
- A statement from the child's health care provider stating child's date of birth, or
- A statement from the mother's health care provider stating child's date of birth.

For child bonding for adoption or foster care placement:

- A copy of court documents finalizing the adoption; or
- Documentation from the child's healthcare provider; or
- Foster/adoption agency paperwork containing adoption or placement.
- Please note: If the claimant is not the parent named in the court documents, they may also be asked to provide proof verifying the relationship to the parent in locos named in the court documentation, such as, but not limited to, marriage certificate, civil union, or domestic partnership documentation.

For leave to care for a family member with a serious health condition, including medical events related to pregnancy or childbirth, the claimant must provide ONE of the following:

- Certification of a Serious Health Condition form filled out by the claimant and their healthcare provider. It can take two weeks or more for the doctor's office to process this paperwork, so the claimant should be sure to submit it to them as soon as possible, or
- A doctor's note. or Attending Physician Statement (APS). Please make sure it includes the same information as the Certification of Serious Health Condition form.
- Please note: In some cases, a statement confirming the relationship between the covered employee and the family member may also be requested.

For qualifying military exigency needs, claimants will need to verify their family member's service with one of the following:

- Covered family member's active-duty orders, or
- Letter from the military unit documenting impending call or order to covered duty, or
- Documentation of military leave signed by the approval authority for the military member's rest and recuperation.
- Other documentation reasonably acceptable to MetLife

For caring for a family member who is a covered service member:

- Certification of a Serious Health Condition form filled out by service member's healthcare provider. It can take two weeks or more for the doctor's office to process this paperwork, so the claimant should be sure to submit it to them as soon as possible, or
- A doctor's note. or Attending Physician Statement (APS). Please make sure it includes the same information as the Certification of Serious Health Condition form.
- An alternative form of certification can be Invitational Travel Order (ITO), or Invitational Travel Authorization (ITA) issued by the Department of Defense to any family member to join an injured or ill service member at his or her bedside.
- Please note: In some cases, a statement confirming the relationship between the covered employee and the family member may also be requested.

Claims Processing

What happens if I am out on an approved absence starting in 2021, which extends into 2022?

Your benefit amount is based on the first date of leave. Thus, if you began a claim in 2021 and it extends into 2022, the 2021 benefit rate will apply.

Can MA PFML be taken intermittently or on a reduced leave schedule?

Yes, MA PFML can be taken intermittently, continuous leave, or reduced leave. However, there are some restrictions on your ability to use leave intermittently or on a reduced schedule basis, depending on your qualifying leave event.

Why does the law say I must give a 30-day advance notice of foreseeable leave?

The 30-day advance notice requirement is for the employee to alert their supervisor/employer that they will be absent. This may help with staffing and identify back up training to cover while the employee is out for an extended period of time. There is no requirement for the insurance claim to be submitted early.

What if my claim is denied?

If MetLife denies your claim, the claimant may reach out to MetLife to appeal the claim decision, especially if the claimant has new information to support the claim. If, after a second review and the claim is still denied, the claimant may file for another appeal with the state of MA. The denial letter will provide the appeal filing instructions.

Who is a covered family member?

Family member means a spouse or domestic partner, children, parents, a spouse's or domestic partner's parents, grandchildren, grandparents, and siblings.

General Tax questions

Are benefits taxable?

Yes.

Are taxes automatically withheld from benefits?

State administered: PML and PFL will not have taxes automatically withheld from benefits. The state will send a 1099-G with benefits payable to the covered individual.

Private plan administered:

PFL: No. Taxes will not automatically be withheld from benefits, but employees can request voluntary tax withholding. You simply need to submit a W-4S tax form to the claims team and taxes can be withheld.

PML: Yes. Medical leaves are treated similarly to disability income, and taxes are automatically withheld from benefits.

How do employers report payroll contribution?

Employers should report employee contributions on both Form W-2 using Box 14 – State disability insurance taxes withheld. And box 16 for 1099-Misc. In both cases, the boxes should read “MAPFML”.
